

NORTHERN IRELAND
JUNIOR CAMROSE TEAM

Aileen Armstrong

Aileen is currently completing her International Baccalaureate (A level equivalent) including Chemistry, Biology and Psychology. She has applied for Chemistry at university and plays the flute and piano. She has been playing bridge for 5 years.

Andrew Newbold

Andrew is a 24 year old from Carrickfergus who knows too much about pensions. Andrew would like to blame the "current events" for having a social life similar to his cat, but this is only slightly worse than usual. Besides playing on BBO I enjoy playing RPGs on my PC or Switch. Say hello if you play me this year and remind me that I've probably forgot about my tea brewing in the kitchen.

Lucy O'Kane

Lucy is obviously a woman of few words. All she has told us is that she is in her third year studying Biochemistry at Trinity College Dublin.

Xander Todd

Xander is currently working his way through a computer science degree at Queen's University Belfast whilst also working at the Wetherspoons in Belfast city central.

While he's not coding, playing cards or pouring pints he's probably playing guitar, coding more or consuming pints.

NPC Wayne Somerville

Wayne is currently working as a customer service advisor in Bangor. He came through the ranks as a junior, and has since gone on to have a lot of success in teams competitions in Northern Ireland and winning the Egan Trophy in 2019. He has also been a regular in the Camrose team since making his debut there in 2018.

Away from the table, whether physically or digitally, he is also a keen pool player, even if that has had to take a back seat with the recent pandemic. He is also often found listening to symphonic metal and playing computer games preferring Japanese role-playing and strategy games, and enjoys doing logic puzzles, particularly sudoku and all its variants.
